

Production of gravitational waves during inflation

jeudi 14 juin 2018 12:00 (15 minutes)

I will review mechanisms of production of matter during inflation that will in its turn lead to the generation of gravitational waves. These gravitational waves can be of relevance both for the phenomenology of the CMB and for gravitational interferometers.

Auteur: SORBO, Lorenzo (University of Massachusetts, Amherst)

Orateur: SORBO, Lorenzo (University of Massachusetts, Amherst)

Classification de Session: Talks and group discussions