The 7th EU Research Framework Programme (FP7)

To support scientific exchange and collaboration, access to research funding and timely information on research funding opportunities is essential.

Under the Seventh Research Framework Programme (FP7) such funding support is provided by the European Union. Collaboration in large multinational research projects between partners in the two continents can be supported under the Seventh EU Research Framework Programme

EU services under FP7 allow the opportunities for research collaboration and personnel exchange between Asia and Europe to become a reality and get funded
