This conference aims at gathering young researchers who are in their second or third year of PhD, although first year PhD students as well as young post-doc researchers are also welcome to participate. The JRJC are a very good opportunity for the participants to share their research work and get an overview of the latest research developments achieved in his/her field, within a nice and laid-back environment. A proceeding summarizing the work presented will be produced in the following of this conference week, and publish in a proceeding book of the event on HAL.

Research topics covered by the JRJC 2023 conference are the following: Instrumentation and accelerators - Hadronic physics - Standard Model - Physics beyond the Standard Model - Nuclear structure - Nuclear energy - Medical physics and interdisciplinarity - Gravitational waves - Flavor physics - Astroparticles - Cosmology - Neutrinos - Theory. JRJCs are open to all young researchers, both experimenters and theoreticians!

Presentations can be given either in english or french. Please note for PhD student that your participation to the JRJC can be formally recognized as a part of your training modules in some doctoral schools.

The social program includes an afternoon excursion in the region with a tasting of local products (cookie, brewery and oyster farmer), an improved dinner and dance party one of the evenings and a seminar by a guest speaker.
