

ID de Contribution: 118

Type: Ordinary

Is the Standard Model scalar the first discovered SUSY particle?

vendredi 21 mars 2014 17:00 (15 minutes)

The scalar particle recently discovered at the LHC has the same gauge quantum numbers as the neutrino, so they could be one the superpartner of the other. In this talk I will discuss such a possibility, discussing a model where this is indeed realised. This model has an interesting phenomenology at the LHC.

Auteur principal: Mme BIGGIO, Carla (Università di Genova)

Orateur: Mme BIGGIO, Carla (Università di Genova)

Classification de Session: Beyond the Standard Model

Classification de thématique: Theory