

ID de Contribution: 170

Type: Ordinary

Neutrino-nucleus cross section measurements at MINERvA

lundi 17 mars 2014 17:20 (15 minutes)

An accurate and precise understanding of neutrino-nucleus interactions in the few-GeV energy region is vital for the success of the worldwide neutrino oscillation programme. In this talk, I will show measurements of neutrino cross sections taken at the MINERvA experiment which constrain interaction channels that are relevant for oscillation experiments.

Auteur principal: Dr RODRIGUES, Philip (University of Rochester)

Orateur: Dr RODRIGUES, Philip (University of Rochester)

Classification de Session: Neutrino experiments

Classification de thématique: Experiment